

Students with poor working memory often struggle to achieve academically. This workshop will provide an overview of the ways in which working memory affects language and literacy learning, provide methods for reducing the learning difficulties associated with working memory problems and present effective teaching strategies.

Presenter: Mandy Nayton is currently the Executive officer of DSF Literacy and Clinical Services. She is an educational and developmental psychologist as well as a qualified teacher with extensive experience in the field of educational and counselling psychology. Mandy assesses children, teenagers and adults struggling with the acquisition of effective literacy skills and recommends appropriate classroom-based and individual strategies. She also runs numerous courses on literacy acquisition and learning difficulties both for DSF and in association with the University of Western Australia's Child Study Centre.

CANCELLATION POLICY

DSF Literacy Services has a 'no refund' policy. The exception would be when a Professional Learning Course had to be cancelled by the Foundation. All other requests for cancellation will be invited to re-register for another session. Late cancellation (less than 48 hrs) will necessitate the Foundation deducting an administration fee of $25.00 and transferring the balance to another Professional Learning Course.
